

Research policies for Ethics and Plagiarisms:

Ethics and Plagiarisms policies to promote scientific research by providing the code of ethical practices for individual and collaborating work.

1. The main focus on discipline and faculties, the faculties is science, philosophy, law, psychology, or sociology and distinguish between acceptable and unacceptable behavior that suit the particular aims and goals.
2. The process of data collection is very truthfulness. The data analysis and interpretation, methods and procedures, result writing and publication status and other aspects related to research. The research objectivity is expected and which is open to criticism and new ideas.
3. Throughout the research process it should be done confident, sincerely and consistence.
4. A highly respect is given to patents, copyrights, and other forms of intellectual property. Without permission do not use uncirculated data, methods, or results. Give proper acknowledgement or credit for all contributions to research.
5. Show proper respect and care for life forms when using them in research. Do not conduct unnecessary or imperfectly designed experiments, relevant laws and institutional and governmental policies.
6. The research should not be in the form of misconduct or FFP i.e. "fabrication, falsification, or plagiarism".
7. If any researcher is found to be guilty of plagiarism is liable for severe punishment.

Principal

Shriram Institute of Information Technology
Paniv, Tal. Malshiras, Dist. Solapur